

FURTHER READING ABOUT LITERATURE REVIEWS

BOOKS

The following books are recommended. Your University or college library may stock some or all of them, or suitable alternatives.

McMillan, Kay and Weyers, Jonathan, (2006), The Smarter Student: Skills and Strategies for Success at University, Harlow, Pearson Education.
Chapter 53 – Reviews and dissertations

WEBSITES

NOTE: links were live at the time of writing.

CHECK ALL

<http://www.hull.ac.uk/studyadvice/LearningResources/StudyGuidesPDFs/LiteratureReviewsstudyguide.doc>

A useful little leaflet on Literature Reviews, covering the purpose of literature reviews; what is meant by “literature”; and how to write and structure a literature review.

<http://www.sss.uq.edu.au/linkto/phdwriting/phlink17.html>.

This website entitled Making Sense of the Literature is aimed at PhD students, but it can be used by students doing a degree course. Covers evaluating the literature and has some answers to common questions about literature reviews.

Materials developed by Robyn Adams and Chris Pinder, University of Hull. © University of Hull, 2008.